NO NAME STEAK CONTEST SITE

You have trusted us for many years to make safe and quality meat products that family members of all ages can enjoy. In the cyberspace world, this trust is even more important to your family. To make sure that this contest site stays safe and fun, we make the following promises:

- We collect personal information about our contest or activity entrants for purposes of notifying contest winners and distributing activity promotions. When necessary for participation, we will gather personal information including name, age, city, state and contact information such as address, email address and telephone number. We will not condition participation in a contest or activity on your disclosing more personal information than is reasonably necessary to participate.
- If you submit stories, artwork, comments or anything else to us which is posted on our site, you will be identified on our site only by first name, age, city and state.
- If you send us an e-mail with a question or comment, or enter one of our contests, we will write back using your e-mail address, but we will not keep the address or use it again.
- No one will be excluded from our site for not giving us personal information. When we do ask for personal information (like an e-mail address), we will only keep it until that particular activity is complete. We will not share this information with a third party, other than with our promotional partners for purposes of awarding contest prizes or delivery of promotional items. Our promotional partners have agreed to maintain the confidentiality and security of any personal information, subject to contest or promotion terms. Our promotional partners' businesses are identified in the individual contest or activity.
- If we know a visitor is under the age of thirteen, we will collect a parent's permission offline (by postal mail, fax or phone) before we collect or share personal information with anyone else, or we will ask the parent to submit the personal information on behalf of the child. The parent's consent is required for the use and disclosure of such information about the child. A parent may contact J&B Wholesale Distributing, Inc. in the manner described below (1) to review the child's personal information and request the deletion of a child's information (if any) and (2) to consent to use of personal information, but not the disclosure to third parties.

As you visit the site, it is possible that certain cookies may be set on your computer. We use the information from cookies to improve our visitors' experiences on the site. No personal information is ever stored in a cookie, even if you have entered your name or e-mail address on other parts of this site. J & B Wholesale Distributing, Inc. does not sell information collected by cookies or use the information for commerce-related purposes.

Your family's use of this site is conditioned on your having accepted these terms. You should check back to this policy frequently, since it is subject to change from time to time, and your continued use of the site is conditioned upon your acceptance of any modifications hereto.
